MAILLY GRANDEUR NATURE A SUSTAINABLE PROJECT

With the aim of creating a network of areas conducive to biodiversity, this internal project recreates a connection between forest and vine on the northern face of the Montagne de Reims, on the scale of the village of Mailly-Champagne.

The planting of shrub hedges and trees, sometimes isolated, all play a role in stabilizing biodiversity and the resilience of animal and plant populations, as well as combating erosion, sequestering carbon and improving landscape quality.

This year's initiative has seen the planting of more than 220 local plant species, representing the re-establishment of some 30 new species in the vineyard, complementing the existing ones.

MEETING WITH EMMANUEL NASTI

Behind every wine stands a human story, and Emmanuel Nasti's story is a perfect example of passion, transformation and commitment.

Starting out as an architect, he took part in the take over of a family restaurant in Eguisheim (Alsace, France) with his brother. This dual daily commitment to architecture and catering lasted several years, until he met his rare pearl, his wife Corinne.

ASCENDING WITH THE FAMILY

Self-taught, then trained as a sommelier alongside Pascal Leonetti, Meilleur Ouvrier de France, Emmanuel began a new family chapter by transforming a winegrower's restaurant into a Michelin-starred establishment, "Le Chambard". Active member of the Sommeliers d'Alsace, Emmanuel has won several awards, including Sommelier of the Year for his expertise and dedication.

In 2016, at the age of 50, he reinvented himself by buying a wine cellar, pursuing his passion as a wine merchant. He runs the family business with his wife Corinne and their 3 children, placing particular emphasis on teamwork and the importance of human relations.

Throughout his career, Emmanuel has distinguished himself by his perseverance and passion for wine, combining the technical and human aspects of this profession. These are values that remain true to Mailly Grand Cru, establishing a lasting relationship of trust with this kind-hearted ambassador.

Emmanuel Nasti and his team can be found at NASTI - Marchand de Vin
7 Avenue Pierre Pflimlin

LES ÉCHANSONS

The Plenitude of Maily Grand Cru to celebrate family moments.

To celebrate the holidays with your family,
we suggest an exceptional pairing.

Our Cuvée Les Echansons, with its warm, complex aromatic depth, is the perfect match for tender, crispy poultry with hazelnuts and candied fruit.
